To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing this letter to express my enthusiastic support for CYCNY, a musical organization that has played a truly meaningful role in my life in the past six years. Since joining in 2019, it has become much more than a place to make music— it's been a space for growth, culture, and connection.

CYCNY has given me the chance to grow as a communicator- not just in the way I express myself through music, but also in how I interact with others and form meaningful connections despite the different walks of life. Learning to listen carefully, to collaborate, and to respond sensitively to different perspectives has had a huge impact on how I connect now and in the future. CYCNY was the start of my journey that despite ordinary rehearsals and circumstances, I've come to understand the value of commitment and discipline. Learning to listen, interpret, and express emotions through music has greatly improved my ability to connect with others, both on and off stage. But, these aren't just musical skills, these are life skills that every student need to know to mature and grow into a thoughtful and conscientious individual.

The community that CYCNY fosters is like no other. I have found people who shared my passion for music. But CYCNY is not just a musical organization, it is also a cultural organization that fuels love towards Asian music as well as Western classical and modern music. I've shared the thrill of performing with friends, the challenges of preparing for concerts, and through everything CYCNY has truly been something special.

Beyond all the skills and facts, CYCNY has brought me so much joy and happiness. From concert tours to community outreach events, every experience has been rewarding. The satisfaction of performing alongside talented peers continues to inspire and motivate me.

I am deeply grateful for all that CYCNY has given me and am proud to support its mission and all the young musicians it continues to inspire. It is an organization that not only nurtures musicianship, but also encourages the development of thoughtful, compassionate, and resilient individuals. Thank you for considering my endorsement of Youth Orchestra, CYCNY. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you require further information.

Sincerely,
Joyce Han
